AlphaData PBX

Modern Communication System for Business

Alpha Data PBX

Alpha Data Private Branch Exchange (PBX) is an evolution of Voice over Internet Protocol (VoIP) technology. The multi-tenant PBX provides a cheap, reliable, cloud-based platform for enterprise voice communication.

With the PBX, team members in different locations can communicate easily by dialing a four-digit extension number from an app (VoipSys) in their mobile devices (cell phones, tablets). They can also use different brands of wired and wireless desktop IP phone such as Grandstream, Yealink, Cisco.

The service is pre-paid subscription. The minimum number of extensions is five. There are four subscription plans: Free, Basic, Standard, Ultimate. Free plan is for 30 days. Subscription renewal can be weekly, monthly.

Connection to the Public Switched Telephone Network (PSTN) is achieved through optional internet-based Session Initiation Protocol (SIP) trunks and Direct Inward Dialing (DID) numbers provisioned by the PSTN and billed per second.

White-label: You can brand the PBX platform as your own. Use your company name, logo, email, domain name. You set your prices and bill your customers. Reduce time to market.
